

Experts Assert
Lincoln Papers,
Opened Today,
Not Revealing

By ALEXANDER GEORGE

Washington, July 26 (AP)—A collection of Abraham Lincoln's papers, sealed from public view for 28 years, was opened today but the documents apparently were lacking in sensational facts about the life of the Civil War President.

Roy P. Basler, a well known expert on the life of Lincoln and one of a group permitted to examine the papers after they were opened at midnight, told reporters:

"I have found nothing and as far as I know none of the other men who examined the papers last night found anything that would alter our advance impression that the papers would serve chiefly to round out matters of interest to historians."

Robert Todd Lincoln, son of the Lincoln Parentage

Great Emancipator, who collected the papers at the White House after his father was assassinated, left them sealed at his death with the proviso that they should not be opened for 21 years.

That period expired at midnight and it was just one minute after that hour that the collection was removed from five safes and given to 30 experts to examine.

Basler said nothing was found that would implicate any member of Lincoln's cabinet in the plot to assassinate him. He said there was only indirect reference to stories questioning Lincoln's parentage.

Cites One Letter

Basler cited a letter by John D. Johnson, son of Lincoln's foster mother, written to the Civil War President at the time of the death of Tom Lincoln, his father. Basler said the letter contained references to Abraham Lincoln as "your father's own flesh and blood—his only surviving son."

Basler's remarks were made to reporters while they were waiting for the Library staff to complete its work of preparing copies and digests of the 15,000 to 20,000 documents contained in the collection given to the Library by Robert Todd Lincoln.

On Public Display

The President's son placed the sealed papers in the Library in 1919. Afterward he deeded them to the Library with the stipulation that they remain sealed until 21 years after his death. He died July 26, 1926.

As more than 100 Lincoln scholars, newspapermen, newsreel and radio men waited at the Library for the double seals to be opened last midnight, Dr. Luther Evans, librarian, told them:

"Nothing like this ever has happened in these rooms before."

Parts of the collection were to be placed on public display at 3 p. m. (EST) at a ceremony at which Basler is to speak.

Basler said the collection contains almost no personal letters or letters involving the Lincoln family—that Robert Todd Lincoln obviously had destroyed any that he may have found.

Humerous Endorsements

There were countless letters from Union army generals to Lincoln but very few from Lincoln to the generals. Many of the letters bore humorous endorsements. A letter from one general complained that a Confederate naval vessel was shelling his troops.

Lincoln endorsed this one: "Refer to Neptune and Mars."

Most of the letters were from General Ulysses S. Grant, who headed the Union forces in final victory. Several were from General George B. McClellan during the indecisive Peninsula campaign in southern Virginia. Basler said the tenor of most of these letters was "the same old thing—nobody ever did right by him."

No "Bixby Letter"

Basler said there was no sign of the original text of Lincoln's famed "Bixby letter," which he described as "the one thing we would rather have found of all, but which we really did not hope to find."

The Bixby letter was a note from Lincoln to a Mrs. Bixby in Boston expressing sympathy over the loss of her five sons in battle. Asked how it was known that such a letter ever existed, Basler said contemporary records show it was delivered to the adjutant general of Massachusetts who gave it to Mrs. Bixby. The Boston Transcript carried an account (Please turn to Page 2)

HARVEST OF '47
CHERRY CROP IS NEARING CLOSE

The 1947 cherry crop, which soon will be history, proved for many growers in Adams county to be far better than they expected, while for others the crop fell below their pre-harvest estimates.

Canners in the county reported that the crop as a whole was good, with the cherries large and solid. By the end of next week the season will be over in the canneries and picking has ended in some orchards already while others will be through with their harvest by the end of this week.

The Fairfield-Ortanna section crop proved "surprisingly good" according to reports from that section. One large grower reported that he obtained 90 per cent of a normal crop from his mature trees. While there were fewer cherries, he estimated that the larger size more than made up for the smaller number.

Half Crop In County

For the county as a whole the anticipated harvest is approximately 50 per cent of a normal crop.

The three cherry processing plants in the county reported they will have processed about 2,500 tons of cherries by the end of the season.

The Ortanna Canning company went beyond its expectation with about 475 tons to process; the Muselman company at Biglerville will handle between 180 to 200 tons and the Adams Apple products company anticipates handling about 400 tons, both canned and frozen, by the end of the season.

Sale of fresh fruit appeared to be better than the sale of processed cherries, although canners look forward to better sales in the near future. The market on cherries was glutted until the past few weeks, some canners said.

Fresh Fruit Market Good

Others added that wholesalers were being very conservative in their purchase of the newly-processed crop, with one canner reporting sales at lower than the cost of purchasing and canning the cherries.

Prices paid growers here ranged up to a top of 12 cents a pound and much was at around 10 cents a pound. John Peters, Gardners, said that the canners "stretched themselves" to help keep the price of cherries up for the growers by paying higher prices than canners in some other states. In some sections, particularly in Wisconsin, prices were at 9 cents a pound and some lower.

The fresh fruit market was good with most markets paying from 12 to 14 cents a pound. Locally the growers made out even better in sales to individual householders.

MASTER FILES
DIVORCE REPORT

Granting of a divorce to Mrs. Violet B. Ray, Fairfield, against Charles C. Ray, address unknown, is recommended in the report of the master, Attorney Robert W. Geigley, filed in the prothonotary's office at the court house Friday afternoon.

The libel brought by Mrs. Ray dates back to the early part of 1946, when it was first filed. Attorney John P. Butt was appointed master, heard a hearing, and filed his report on June 8, 1946, recommending granting of the divorce on the grounds of desertion. He further recommended that a charge of indignities to the person be dismissed.

Exceptions to the master's report were filed by the libellant and later withdrawn. On June 29, 1946, the court reentered the case back to the master to give the libellant opportunity to produce additional testimony or amend the complaint.

Attorney Butt died on August 10, 1946, and on March 10, 1947, Attorney Geigley was named master. An amended complaint was filed, and a hearing held, resulting in the recommendation for divorce filed by Geigley Friday afternoon.

70 TEACHERS TO TAKE TRAINING
IN WORK SHOP

Approximately 70 Adams county school teachers are expected to participate in the workshop in elementary education which is to be held at Biglerville during the first two weeks in August. The project, in teacher training is being sponsored by County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh and Assistant Superintendent Dr. Robert A. Bream in conjunction with the Upper Adams County Jointure.

Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville school, has made available the facilities at Biglerville in an administrative capacity. The instructional program will be under the direction of Mrs. Ruth C. Harley, State Teachers' college, Shippensburg. Dr. Ralph A. Scraftford, supervisor of special education for Adams and Franklin counties, will assist.

In addition, various district educators have consented to act as consultants. Among them are Marsby C. Little, chairman of the district steering committee on elementary school curriculum revision; Dr. Raymond G. Mowrey, superintendent of Franklin county schools; and Dr. Levi Gilbert, president of Shippensburg State Teachers' college.

To Study Problems

Assistance is being received from Dr. Leversia L. Powers, chief of elementary education, State Department of Public Instruction, who is guiding the elementary curriculum revision program throughout the state. It is this statewide curriculum revision program which has given rise to the workshop movement which is gaining in popularity throughout the state.

The plan at this time is for all teachers to contribute the best in their schools and their own teaching toward constructing courses for each grade and subject. The teachers who meet at Biglerville will work individually and in small groups to investigate ways of teaching most effectively. They will spend much of their time at the workshop in planning and preparing for the work of the coming year.

"Many of these people are being affected by the transition from the ungraded to the graded school," Dr. Scraftford said today. "If the advantages of the graded school are to be realized, then there needs to be a great deal of careful planning before the school bell rings in September."

"The workshop," he added, "provides the opportunity for teachers to study this and other practical problems which they will be called upon to face during the coming year. It is hoped that each teacher will appear with a school problem for which he or she hopes to find an answer. The coordinators and the consultants will aid each workshop participant in the working out of the problem which he has chosen. Every boy and girl in the county who falls under the guidance of an attendant at the Biglerville workshop will benefit by the planning of school work which will take place there."

Congress Ready To Quit
Today Until Next January

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Three major appropriation bills, a wool bill and some legislative odds and ends stood as the only barriers to today between the first session of the 80th Congress and adjournment tonight until next January.

Republican leaders running the Congressional show for the first time in 15 years were confident they could meet the adjournment deadline without difficulty.

But, if necessary, they stood ready to resort to the often-used legislative device of stopping the official clocks short of midnight to make the July 26 quitting date official.

Here And There
News Collected At Random

North Washington street, from Chambersburg street to the Reading tracks, has become the traffic-congested area of Gettysburg.

Under normal conditions it is a crowded area but with the detour from Carlisle street because of railroad crossing repairs traffic has increased immeasurably and violations mount by the hour.

Cars and huge transfer vans park on the wrong side of the street. Greyhound buses are jammed into their small terminal section, frequently blocking the Race Horse alley intersection and scores of other incidents make this a place to avoid. Many motorists make U turns at the Chambersburg street corner and many a serious accident has been narrowly averted.

The bill would authorize the units to carry the streamers denoting service with the Confederate Army upon verification in the War Department that they are entitled to such designations.

Many beautiful commemorative stamps have been issued by Uncle Sam to commemorate various events. Some of these events have been, what philatelists classify as, "strictly local" . . . in that they are not of national significance.

One event has been overlooked, and, in our estimation, it is of great significance . . . Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. No stamp has ever been issued to commemorate that great event.

November 19, 1948, will mark the 85th anniversary of that speech. Would not the Post Office department issue a commemorative stamp on that occasion? We believe it should. What do you think?

SUIT IS SETTLED

Judge Walter I. Anderson in York county court at York Thursday approved of a settlement of a suit for damages by Emma G. Long, a minor, by her father, Leo Long, New Oxford, against Lewis Breighner, Hanover, upon the payment of $585 by the defendant. The suit was the result of injuries suffered by Miss Long in a motor vehicle crash on June 8, 1946, on the Carlisle pike, north of Hanover. She suffered a fractured jaw and lacerations of her right forehead and eyebrow.

HOUSE APPROVES
CEMETERY-PARK
LAND EXCHANGE

(Special to The Times)

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP) —

In one of the last legislative acts before Congressional adjournment the House approved a bill sponsored by Representative Chester H. Gross of the Adams-Franklin district, York, providing for an exchange of land between the federal government and the Evergreen Cemetery association at Gettysburg.

Congressman Gross had the bill brought up for consideration under the "unanimous consent rule" which permits House members to bring bills before the House in the final rush toward adjournment.

Under the terms of the bill, approximately four acres of private land within the Gettysburg National Military Park would be conveyed to the United States in exchange for federal property consisting of a right-of-way that bisects property owned by the Evergreen Cemetery association and embraces approximately one and one-quarter acres. The Interior Department, which has jurisdiction over the Gettysburg National Park recommended the enactment of the Gross bill.

Of Equal Value

Reporting to the House Public Lands committee, under Secretary of Interior, Oscar L. Chapman, said: "We believe that this proposed land exchange would be advantageous to the federal government. The four-acre tract that would be acquired by the United States is situated within the park boundary and would further consolidate federal ownership of land in the park. The property that would be conveyed by the government is of little use for park purposes because of its location with respect to the private property of the Evergreen Cemetery association. The federal and private lands that would be exchanged, we believe, are of approximately equal value."

The measure was referred after passage to the Senate but final action probably will not be completed until after the Congress reconvenes in January.

PAYS FINES ON

Clifford (Skinny) Chapman, 22, of Ortanna, who faced two charges of disorderly conduct as the result of his arrest early this morning by borough police at the Greyhound terminal, North Washington street, was free today after paying $10 fines and costs in each of the two charges to Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Police received a complaint that Chapman was "creating trouble" at the bus terminal. Frank N. Crider,

PLANE CONTRACT ROLE IS DENIED FOR ROOSEVELT

By JACK BELL

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Howard Hughes was reported today to have denied specifically to the Senate War Investigating committee that Elliott Roosevelt had anything to do with government award of a $40,000,000 wartime plane contract to Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser.

A member of the committee told a reporter privately he was present when Hughes testified behind closed doors several weeks ago that the son of the late president contributed nothing toward obtaining the contract.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said a subcommittee he heads has been looking into reports that Elliott may have played a part in obtaining White House backing for the contract—described as having been stoutly opposed by the armed services.

One GOP Objective

That apparently was one of the objectives of the committee in issuing a subpoena for certain papers in the files of the late President Roosevelt.

Most of these papers were delivered to the committee yesterday by Solon J. Buck, United States archivist, with the explanation in a letter to Chairman Brewster (R-Me.) of the full committee that President Truman had approved the action because "it would not violate the intention of the late President Roosevelt as disclosed in such documents as are available."

Presumably, the committee hoped to find among these documents support for the contention of Ferguson and some other Republican members that White House "pressure" had been used to obtain approval of the contracts after the War Production Board and other agencies had ruled against them.

Whether Elliott Roosevelt exerted any influence in this situation seemingly has been one of the moving factors of the Republicans who are in charge of the investigation.

Expect 1946 Apple Price To Prevail

"Commercial growers of apples will probably receive prices about as high as those received for the 1946 crop," the U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced.

"Because of severe frost damage in May less than half an average commercial apple crop is expected in the South Atlantic states. However, the crop in all other important commercial apple-growing regions is expected to be near average or larger. Compared to last year's crop, production this year is indicated to be 10 per cent larger in Western and Central states, about 4 per cent smaller in the North Atlantic states, and 61 per cent smaller in the South Atlantic states. Total production in all commercial areas is estimated at 111,174,000 bushels, only 2 per cent less than the 1936-45 average of 112,896,000 bushels but 7 per cent less than the 1946 crop."

State Grants County Library $2,500 For '47

Adams county was one of seven in the state receiving the maximum allotment of $2,500 in state assistance grants approved today by the state Department of Public Instruction, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg. Dr. Francis B. Haas, head of the department, said these counties in addition to Adams received the maximum amount: Bedford, Butler, Cameron, Huntingdon, Monroe and Somerset.

Other counties, and total amounts received, include: Bradford, $1,850; Centre, $2,100; Chester, $792; Clearfield, $1,750; Clinton, $1,500; Columbia, $1,250; Indiana, $500; Lancaster, $1,375; Lehigh, $1,250; Lycoming, $2,250; Susquehanna, $562; York, $525.

Experts Assert

Basler said the papers will be of aid in compiling a "definitive" biography of Lincoln. He said John G. Nicolay and John Hay, Lincoln's war time personal secretaries who had possession of these papers for 27 years at one time, were inaccurate in some parts of their ten-volume work on Lincoln—"that they were not trained historians and perhaps did not realize the significance of some things they saw."

Telegram from Son

There is only one item of correspondence from Robert Lincoln to his father. This is a telegram, the contents of which were not immediately disclosed.

The one article touching on Lincoln's personal or family life is a note he sent to Mrs. Lincoln while she was on a visit west. In the course of it the President reported on the loss of a nanny goat owned by the Lincoln boys. The existence of this letter has been known for some years.

Although Lincoln was famed as the master of witty stories, some of them reputedly a trifle off color, there is only one item containing an anecdote of this type. And this was not written by Lincoln, but to him.

All told, Basler said, there are fewer than 1,000 letters by Lincoln himself.

Dr. Evans began the formal opening at the appointed hour by reading Robert Todd Lincoln's deed of gift.

"Waited 28 Years"

Then, as flashbulbs flared, C. Percy Powell, assistant in the library's Manuscripts division, twirled the combination on the first safe.

The doors swung open to disclose two rows of the bound volumes, each volume 11 by 14 inches by 2½ inches thick. He and Evans thumbed through several for the benefit of photographers.

Eager though they were to get at the collection, the attitude of most of the experts apparently was summed up in a remark by Carl Sandburg, Lincoln authority on hand to inspect the papers:

"I've kept myself in check for 28 years. I guess I can stand it a few minutes longer."

Kansas City Fraud Probe Is 'Doomed'

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Senator Kem's (R-Mo.) proposal to probe Attorney General Clark's handling of the Kansas City vote fraud charges was still on the Senate's unfinished business list today—but GOP leaders admitted it was doomed.

"No hope" was the way Republican leaders described the resolution's chances as Congress headed for final adjournment tonight.

Waiting to be jammed through were so many other measures that backers of Kem's resolution said they could not crack the Democratic opposition.

Meanwhile Kem, author of the inquiry resolution, challenged the Truman administration to look into the 1946 primary voting in Missouri.

"I challenge the Truman administration," he said in a radio (NBC) speech last night, "to raise this un-American in our court and let the people know the facts."

London, July 26 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, 91 today, dismissed the occasion with snorts of mock exasperation and the assertion that few others could have survived so much "Happy birthday rubbish."

"Birthday celebrations are for those who think they can afford to waste time," the sage of Ayot St. Lawrence, drowsy Hertfordshire hamlet, told his listeners. "I've hardly recovered from the last birthday, it nearly killed me—and it would have killed most men."

"Whoever utters that word, 'birthday,' in my presence shall be set down as a man to be avoided."

In a specially chartered DC-3 to Calgary, Alberta, Canada. The trip included tours to Banff, Lake Louise and the Columbia icefield. Miss Musselman, who is spending several days with the parents here will return to complete a course at the Taylor Business college, Philadelphia.

E. BLACKWELL'S STRING NOW 16; FEAT OF DECADE

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Ewell Blackwell's gaudy string of 16 straight wins, fashioned in the day of the rabbit ball and the dime-a-dozen home run, stands out as the most spectacular pitching feat of the decade.

Within reaching distance is Rube Marquand's record of 19 consecutive victories in 1912. No other pitcher in modern days has bettered 16, a long-standing high for the American league.

Even now Blackwell's name is bracketed in the record books with Joe Wood of Boston, Lefty Grove of Philadelphia, Walter Johnson of Washington and Schoolboy Rowe, of Detroit, co-holders of the American league record. The only other pitcher since 1900 to hit 16 was Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1936.

Frick Rules Tie

There were anxious moments for "Blacky" and his Reds last night in the friendly surroundings of Crosley Field. The Phillies, trailing 5-3 going to the ninth, loaded the bases with one out. But they were able to push over only one run and succumbed, 5-4.

Blackwell struck out nine and did not walk a single Phil in his latest success although nicked for 13 hits. His next start probably will be Wednesday afternoon against the New York Giants who thrice have succumbed to his mound magic.

President Ford Frick ruled Sunday's protested St. Louis-Brooklyn contest a tie game 3-3, deciding that Ron Nethery was entitled to the disputed home run because he had been slowed down by Umpire "Beans" Reardon. As a result the Dodgers lost a win and the Cards had one less defeat, at least until the game is replayed August 18 as part of a doubleheader.

Cards Now Second

With the help of Frick's decision and a 5-1 verdict over the Boston Braves, the defending champs moved into second place, their highest mark for the year. Lefty Howie Pollet tripled twice and singled in the attack on Red Barrett and his relief men. Stan Musial led the parade with four hits, including a double.

Brooklyn, however, disposed of Pittsburgh, 4-1, before a banner turnout of 42,014 at Forbes Field, to maintain its lead at 5½ games.

Chicago thumped the New York Giants, 5-3, in the league's only day game, despite Johnny Mize's 29th homer, a three-run clout in the fifth inning of Paul Erickson.

Yanks Still Slugging

The New York Yankees continued their slugging habits, wearing out four Chicago White Sox pitchers, 12-4 with 14 hits including Larry Berra's eighth homer with a man on in the first inning.

Boston took over second place by outscoring St. Louis, 7-6, while Detroit boxed to Philadelphia, 9-5. As a result the Yank' lead was 11½ games.

Washington's Mickey Haefer silenced Cleveland with three hits, 5-1, to make it four straight wins for the Senators. Steve Gromek's wildness cost him three runs and the ball game in the first inning. Jerry Priddy walked with the bases full to force in one score and Mark Christian singled home two more.

Haverstick Still Johnstown Favorite

Johnstown, Pa., July 26 (AP)—Still a favorite to retain his 1946 championship, Harry (Billy) Haverstick of Lancaster nevertheless faces stiff opposition as he went into the quarter-final round of the annual invitation golf tournament today at the Sunnehanna country club.

Teeling off against him in the first match today was Buddy Lutz, Philadelphia Junior champ from Reading, who yesterday downed Eric Schneck of Berkeley Hills, 8 and 7, and then went on to beat Herbert Shreves, Sistersville, W. Va., 4 and 3.

Haverstick himself had an easy time in his first-round match against Horace Flegel of Clearfield downing him 8 and 7, but was extended to oust Frank Leschinsky, Johnstown district champion from Berkeley Hills, 2 and 1.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 26 (AP)—Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, has come up with an idea so simple and logical that you wonder how anyone in baseball happened to think of it. His plan is to hold a huge tryout camp at Hot Springs, Ark., in Oct.—when baseball players have finished their seasonal chores and have nothing else to do. Leslie might go even farther if he desired. . . why not hold a weeding-out session for rookies at that time instead of trying to do it during the spring training season when nobody really is in condition and the grounds are cluttered up with veterans trying to reduce?

Such a camp would give minor league prospects a chance to show their best stuff instead of trying to break in while they're rusty from a winter layoff. . . and in the spring it would enable managers and coaches to concentrate on players who really have a chance to make the big league grade. With the new March 1 starting date, they'll need all the time they can get.

When the two-mile Ascot Gold Cup race was won by Dian at the three-quarter mile Ascot race track near Akron, O., in 1941, the purse was $400. Today it will be run for $5,000. MM and they'll have a tough time justifying the tag of "The poor man's gold cup."

Daytona Beach, Fla., ended its winter fishing tournament June 30 and started the summer tournament July 1. Darn short spring they have there. . . Pitcher Pinky Woods and first baseman Tony Lupien were buddies when they played for the Boston Red Sox. They recently resumed friendly relations when Pinky went from Indianapolis to join Tony at Hollywood, Calif. . . but the rumors say they may be separated again with Lupien going to Detroit. . . Colleges interested in recruiting Buddy Behrens, the junior tennis champ, might as well know that he plans to stay in Florida.

Washington's Mickey Haefer silenced Cleveland with three hits, 5-1, to make it four straight wins for the Senators. Steve Gromek's wildness cost him three runs and the ball game in the first inning. Jerry Priddy walked with the bases full to force in one score and Mark Christian singled home two more.

SENATORS MOVE UP ON CARDINALS

(By The Associated Press)

The Harrisburg Senators had reduced the gap between themselves and the front-running Allentown Cardinals today to three games in the Interstate league standings.

Charlie Sipple held the Red Birds in check in the opener of the Senators-Red Birds' crucial series at Allentown last night and contributed a ninth inning homer in the Senators' 12 to 6 victory. The two teams tangle again today and on Sunday meet in a doubleheader. Harrisburg led the game with eight runs in the first two innings.

In other games, the Hagerstown Owls scored twice in the top of the tenth to take a 4 to 2 over-time decision from the Wilmington Blue Rocks. The Lancaster Red Roses made good the debut of their new pilot, Clayt Sheedy, with a 11 to 4 verdict over the Sunbury Yankees. Tom Kirk, Bill McCarthy and Tom Astbury clouted home runs for the Red Roses. The Trenton Giants won their fifth straight and 10th in their last 11 games by defeating York 4 to 2 on Ken Vanzilder's two-hit performance. The Missourian struck out 10 and walked nine in gaining his fifth victory of the season.

Sunday's schedule (all doubleheaders): York at Trenton; Hagerstown at Wilmington; Harrisburg at Allentown; Sunbury at Lancaster.

Proximity Smashes Track Trot Record

Westbury, N. Y., July 26 (AP)—Proximity, a five-year-old mare owned by Ralph and Gordon Verhurst of Victor, N. Y., held the one-mile American trotting championship today after winning the $25,000 invitational event on Roosevelt Raceway's grand circuit program.

The bay trotter, driven by the veteran Clint Hodgkins, closed with a rush last night to edge out Baker Acres stable's Algiers by a quarter of a length, smashing the track record with a 2:02½ performance.

A crowd of 22,947 saw Proximity race in close contention all the way with Algiers and the S. & W. stable's Kaola, then make a rush at the stretch turn to win going away. Proximity paid $26.50 to win, while the favored Algiers returned $2.80 to place and $2.40 to show. Kaola, second choice in the betting, returned $3.00 show money.

Proximity's time was also a world's record by aged mares on a half-mile track, shattering the former standard of 2:03 held jointly by Kaola and Mary M. The world's record for a half-mile track is 2:01¼, set by Doctor Spencer at Delaware, O., last year. Doctor Spencer, now in Italy, held the former Roosevelt Raceway mile record of 2:02½.

Today's Talk

INTERESTS THAT ENNOBLE

The more pursuit of money has little to it that ennobles. There are interests, however, that do enoble and inspire, and which make the heart. Money has no value unless spent, unless put to some purpose, and all too often that purpose returns nothing constructive, nothing that gives joy and satisfaction.

On the other hand the artist, the writer, the investigator, the scientist, or the collector of things beautiful, and stimulating to the mind, engages in richness and wealth right from the start. Each loses nothing and gains a profit at once. When the mind and the soul of a person are enriched there is established a relationship with all other people contacted that doubly increases one's own gain.

We place so much stress upon material gains. Thus it is that the essential, and eternal values are shoved aside. Yet these are the only values that mean character and happiness, and which continually ennoble. An abiding love that is kindly and gentle, and which binds itself to its kind, is far more ennobling than to have inherited a thriving city!

That which delights, and which gives satisfaction, is measureless in terms of wealth. It can only be measured in terms of mental and moral emotions. The interests that contribute to a happy heart are beyond all barter and price. Money in the bank is not to be compared to peace in the mind.

It was Stevenson who once wrote that "it is perhaps a more fortunate destiny to have a taste for collecting shells than to be born a millionaire." Certain it is that every interest that we acquire adds to our stock of happiness, and ennobles us just that much more. We cannot have too many useful interests.

To be engaged in enterprises that train the will, teach us patience, and which keep our enthusiasm at a high point of heat, is to ennoble our entire nature. Most of the people in this world who complain of their unhappiness merely lack interests to give them zest and hope.

What The Ammeter Says

It may interest you to know that the ammeter doesn't indicate the full output of the generator, nor full discharge when the engine is running. Its function is to record the excess of charging over the discharge. In other words, if the engine's ignition is using 2 amperes and the generator is charging at 30, the ammeter will show a charge of 28. No charge is ever shown with the engine dead. However, there is a discharge reading with the engine dead if other electrical current users are in action. Thus a discharge of 8 amperes for the lights really is 8 amperes. But if the engine is running and the generator is charging 15 amperes the ammeter will show 7 amps. charge.

Just keep in mind that most of the time the ammeter is recording a difference.

Meet The New Maps

I have just been looking over the new road maps which I understand may set the pattern for some years to come. They are long and narrow and have none of the complications of the accordion type map which has defied our ability to refold these many years. Yet they are accurate and detailed, and in colors. The new shape is used to make these maps fit into map holders which attach to the car's sun visor. Protected under a covering of transparent plastic the maps are right at eye level for close inspection, and are always just where you want them. Part of the plan now under way calls for the listing of hotels, inns, restaurants and camps in a directory which runs along the map as you follow your route. With all the postwar developments now being unveiled it was inevitable that tour maps would come in for complete revision.

Are New Plugs Right?

There is a fairly simple way to tell whether the new spark plugs in the engine are suited to its temperament, and you should make the check-up whenever changing plugs. After a few hundred miles the new plugs will take on a coloring indicative of their ability to cope with the engine's peculiar characteristics. First warm up the plugs by running the engine while at a car speed of around 25 miles per hour, and don't let the engine idle. Next unscrew the plugs and examine them. Blackened cores mean that the plugs are of too cold a type, while a whitish core or insulator means that the plugs are too hot. If the plugs are just right for the engine they will have the characteristic light brown coloring indicating normalcy.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Whether the crankshaft has to be taken out of a motor in order to replace main bearings isn't always a matter of knowing the make and year of car involved but may be a question of the particular model. I have in mind the lower priced model of one popular make of car which carries an engine that doesn't go by the rules that apply to its bigger brother. Not taking this into consideration has lured many owners, and some mechanics, into doing a lot of extra work.

"On another line of cars there is a difference in the oil pressure relief valve which can lead to trouble if not understood. On one model the valve spring is adjustable while on the other it must be replaced if too strong or too weak. Watch these little differences. They can cause a lot of trouble."

Spongy Brakes—And Why

One of the common causes of a spongy brake pedal is failure to adjust the brake shoes properly. One owner, however, was fooled because he was trying to adjust the shoes against drums that had been cut down twice. Their stock was so thin it immediately warped again, thus causing the shoes to make anything but smooth engagement.

Sometimes the trouble is at the ends of the brake lining where a high spot will cause too sudden engagement, thus cocking the shoe and producing the same effect as incorrect adjustment. The remedy here is to chamfer the ends of the brake lining.

Useful To Know

If your car has a hand brake applying to the propeller shaft be sure to keep mud and accumulations of grease or dirt from its drum. This will be needed to keep the shaft in balance.

Move up a bit after you have made a quick stop. This will give the fellow behind a little extra margin for safety. If you have to make a very abrupt stop, halt a little ahead of the deadline and then move up a bit.

As the fibre block of the breaker arm rides the distributor's shaft it will wear down. This brings the points too close together. A pat of vaseline on the shaft will help check such wear.

Like Old Man River

The trick in making good time while traveling is not to stop. It isn't a matter of high speed as too many people imagine.

I know a driver who always makes exceptionally good time simply because he never takes time out to eat, buy gas or rest. All this is taken care of before he starts or after he arrives. Of course he doesn't get much enjoyment out of being at the wheel, and I think he misses half the things worth seeing en route. But for time-saving in an emergency his plan is the answer. And of course it is much safer than stopping a lot and trying to make up for lost time in between.

Silence Is Golden

Being held up behind a truck that is double parked never is conducive to one's good spirits, but I would have taken it more easily had not my impatient passengers felt the urge to prod me into swinging out and around the truck. I compromised, however, by turning out just far enough to see what was ahead and to await an opportunity to get going.

Just at that moment a car, apparently driven by a military man, came along in the opposite direction. Slowing down the driver growled, "Keep in line!" Why the words didn't come out of my mouth, I'll never know, but they stayed there right on the tip of my tongue. He was a cop in a cruiser car.

Not Just Imagination

Motorists often note things they do not mention because of fear that someone will think they are ignorant.

of the car's mysteries. That probably is why very few ever mention noticing that sometimes the clutch pedal will have more slack in it than at other times. On one car the clutch grips more as speed increases, slack being one third less in the higher speed bracket. On some other cars a reverse action is noticed. At idling the slack many vary from normal. Much depends on the type of clutch and the venting of the clutch housing. Pressure within the housing can cause oddities in the way the clutch "feels."

lease. There is no action in the brake pedal to suggest fluid leakage.

—H. Z. B.

A. This indicates that there is oil or grease on one of the brake shoes. When "cooked" with heat of friction such grease causes the lining to stick to the drum. You could, of course, have a binding brake shoe anchor. The only way to make sure is to take off the wheels for a close examination. And do it immediately.

Q. What can be done when front wheels continue to shimmy even though camber, caster and toe-in are correct? There is no looseness in the steering system, and the king pins are all right. We have even checked for weak rear springs, loose universal joints and wheel unbalance.

Frank Harris Goes Free After 28 Years

Philadelphia, July 26 (AP)—After serving 21 years for a slaying he did not commit, Frank Harris was a free man today.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania yesterday gave the 49-year-old Philadelphia negro a new suit and a $5 bill and freed him from Eastern penitentiary.

Harris was convicted of slaying a companion, Wilbert McQueen in a gunfight with two Philadelphia policemen in 1926. His sentence was commuted last week after new evidence showed the fatal bullet came from a policeman's gun.

The state parole board said a statement the negro was done great injury" because he was involved in the shooting fray "could under no circumstances declared innocent of any crime."

Said Harris upon viewing a scene shortly after his release can't understand it. It doesn't like it used to."
